P R E F A C E.

AMONG those records of national interest which remain unpublished and comparatively unknown, the Registers of our Inns of Court hold a pre-eminent position. As early as the days of Henry VI, we are reminded by Sir John Fortescue "that knights, barons, and the greatest nobility of the Kingdom often "place their children in these Inns of Court, not so much to make the laws "their study, much less to live by their profession, having large patrimonies "of their own, but to form their manners." In the Registers of these Inns we consequently find information which elsewhere we seek in vain, relating to families and individuals in every portion of the realm; the fact, moreover, that this information is contained in a legal register, invests it with an authority superior to that of the treasured Heralds' Visitations, while it enjoys with them the advantage of dealing with the aristocratic classes. For, to quote from Ferne's Glory of Generosity (London, 1586):—"Nobleness of blood, joynd with virtue, compteth the person as "most meet to the enterprizing of any publick service; and for that cause it was, not "for nought, that our antient Governors in this land, did with a special foresight and "Wisdom, provide, that none should be admitted into the Houses of Court, being "Seminaries, sending forth men apt to the Government of Justice, except he were a "gentleman of blood." This being so, it may appear surprising that records covering so extensive a period and of such unrivalled interest, should have remained virtually inaccessible, and consequently little consulted, since Sir William Dugdale drew so largely upon them for the compilation of "Origines Juridiciales," more than two centuries ago. But in this instance, as in some others, the explanation is doubtless to be found in the magnitude of such an undertaking as their transcription and publication.

Impressed, however, by the importance of the work, I have myself accomplished the transcription of the whole of these unique Registers, having received special permission from the Benchers for the purpose; but, though it is my hope to see them eventually in print, it should be clearly understood that the permission I have received to transcribe the original records does not carry with it, on the part of the authorities, any responsibility, editorial or otherwise.

Preface.

Of these "Noblest nurseries of humanity and liberty in the Kingdom," as Ben Jonson styled them, Gray's Inn was at the period in which he wrote by far the most important and most numerous frequented. Its Register is, therefore, of special value for that brilliant Elizabethan epoch, in which the Inn may be said indeed to have played a direct part by its famous Masques and Revels. But there is an even more distinctive feature about the Register of Gray's. It was the practice of the Inn that each Treasurer, Bencher, or Reader, introducing a student or honorary member, should enter the admission himself in the Register. The result of this plan was unfortunately the introduction of an endless variety of handwriting, which, however interesting to a lover of autographs, is enough to puzzle a transcriber to distraction. The difficulty of deciphering these scrawling entries of three, or even two, centuries ago, is at times almost insuperable.

This leads me to the origin of the transcript from which the present volume is printed. The Register was originally transcribed by G. E. Cokayne, Esq. (now Norroy King-of-Arms), who permitted the late Col. Chester to make a copy of his transcript. This copy has been the basis of my work, but was collated throughout by myself with the original record some years ago, and is now completed to the present time, by permission granted only a few weeks ago. Although, from the nature of the original admission book, it is almost impossible to avoid an occasional misreading, yet, I have been enabled, I trust, with the skilled assistance of Mr. J. A. C. Vincent, to reduce them to a minimum; but even so, it will be easy to examine doubtful names, as I give the reference to each folio in the original register, a point of primary importance for the student. I have incorporated with the text some variants from the Society's Order Books (O.B.) and Ledger, together with a few additional names. The entries prior to 1580 are chronologically arranged from Harleian MS. 1912, compiled by Simon Segar (see page 274). A full account of this MS. will be found in the valuable work on "Gray's Inn, its History and Associations," by Mr. W. R. Douthwaite (1886), the respected librarian of this Inn, to whom I may here express my thanks for the interest he has taken in this work, and for the very cordial assistance he has at all times afforded me.

It is not possible within the limits of a Preface to enumerate the many distinguished individuals whose presence has adorned Gray's Inn. The immortal Bacon, the wise Burleigh, the learned FitzHerbert, the celebrated Gascoigne, Judge Jenkins the Welsh Loyalist, Hall the Chronicler, Camden the Antiquary, Dugdale, Walker, St. George, Dethick, and Wriothesley the Heralds, Rymer of the Fœdera, and in our own time the poet Barry Waller Proctor (Barry Cornwall), Edward Gibbon Wakefield, the chief founder of the Colonies of New Zealand and South Australia, together with many others, are among those who have contributed to render this Inn illustrious in no ordinary degree. Further familiar names will be recognized on a scrutiny of these pages which invite the delightful task of annotation on a liberal scale.

I had at one time hoped to publish the Register in alphabetical form like my other works, and to annotate it myself, but I find myself compelled to abandon the project in default of adequate support. I have yielded, however, to the desire of my subscribers to "Collectanea Genealogica," and printed for them and my later genealogical friends a strictly limited edition of 160 copies, all of which are signed and numbered. I have, however, endeavoured to minimize the disadvantages of the plan I have been compelled to adopt by compiling an elaborate Index to the 16,000 students, of no less than 80 pages, for I feel that a commonplace Index of names to a book of reference such as this would be of little use to the student, who generally desires to bring down his man on the very first reference. I have, therefore, added to each name, beside the reference page, the year of admission, and by so simple an arrangement, that I believe it will be universally appreciated. In the arrangement of the 16th and 17th century names, I have generally included the variants of each under its ordinary or best known form. To render the series of Gray's Inn Registers complete, I have included the Chapel Register of Marriages, arranged in alphabetical order.

It only remains that I should express my earnest hope that the publication of this Register, which enables me to add yet another volume to my "works of reference" series, should lead eventually to that of the other Registers, so that the whole of this magnificent series may at length see the light of day.

JOSEPH FOSTER.

GRAYES INNE.

* * * As the writer of this MS., Simon Segar, (see his admission) grandson of Sir William Segar, garter king of arms, manifestly intended to quote the exact words of the several records noticed by him, his extracts have been carefully examined with the originals, and any inaccuracies so found are duly corrected. All additions placed between [] are reproduced in the actual text of the document, but with the contracted forms extended.

Redd. C^s.

By all w^{ch} feuerall offices it appears that the said Manno^r of Portepole now Graves-Inne or wthin y^e w^{ch} a parte of Graves Inne is now situate was anciently the Inheritance of the Grayes. But I doe not find in any of y^e said former recited inquisitions, that any Gray, Lord or owner of y^e said Manno^r and Messuage did at any time reside there, but were the reputed owners thereof before or about y^e time y^e same became an Ostel for Students and Professors of y^e Common Lawes, And at what certaine time y^e same premisses came to bee demised by Reginald de Grey in y^e 44th yeere of y^e reigne of Kinge Edw. 3. for y^e yearely rent of C^s as is mençoned in y^e Office then found after his decease. And in y^e w^{ch} office (the same beinge in form^r Inquisitions named Mesuagium) is thereby found to be Hospitium and on lease, whereby is manifested y^t y^t house then & yet knowne by y^e name of Graves-Inne was demised to some persons of speciall regard & rancke and not to meane ones or persons of meane or privat behavio^r, but to such as were vnited into a Society p̄fessinge y^e lawes that in those dayes begunn to congregat and fetle themselves wthin y^e same, as an associated Company entertayning hospitalitie together. And then this house grew to bee off an higher Title in denominaçon and became to bee totally termed by y^e Intitulaçon of Hospitium, and soo thereupon found by inquisition to bee quoddam Hospitium in Portepole. And it also appeareth That y^e said Reginald De Grey demised y^e same messuage as aforesaid in y^e reigne of King Edw. 3. wthin his lifetime and at his death was held for Hospitium. And by the jury before whom y^e said ^{A^o 1370.} Inquisition was taken in y^e said 44th yeare of Ed. 3. was found to bee Hospitium and not Mesuagium. Immediatly whereupon y^e said Hospitium is called Greys-Inne or Hospitium Graiorum for that, that Ostell had been soe longe and by soe many feuerall descents in y^t name. As by y^e said former Inquisition is apparantly seene, taken in y^e 19th yeare of K. R. 2^d after y^e decease of Henry sonne and heire of Reginald de Grey w^{ch} name and title it hath not only regained but from time to time retained as well before as unto this day enterteyning wthin y^e same an honorable Society by y^e name of Treas^r, Readers, and Students.

It appeareth That one Richard Chigwell did enfeoffe y^e Deane and Chapter of St. Paul of certaine houfes and rents in y^t preband, And therefore it is apparent that the said Deane and Chapter did before y^e said 22th yeare of ye reigne of K. Ed. Ist (And before y^e makinge of y^e statute of Quia Emptores terrarum, ordeine[d] in y^e 18th yeare of y^t Kings reigne) enfeoffe y^e first named Reginald Grey and his heires of y^e said Manno^r of Portpole, who (as by record here recited as other stronge circumstances depending upon y^e whole) was y^e first Gray y^t obtained the said Manno^r from y^e Church.

And now to conclude. It also appeareth by an other of y^e former ^{A^o 1570.} recited offices found after y^e decease of y^e said last mençoned Reginald Grey that Edmund Lord Grey of Wilton next heire to y^e said Reginald was seised of y^e said house & appurtenances, And soe seised by Indenture inrolled in y^e 22th yeare of y^e reigne of K. H. 7th and by fyne levyed in y^e same yeare did convey & assure y^e p^rmisses by y^e name of y^e Manno^r of Portpole otherwise Grayes Inne unto divers y^e Ancients & Benchers of Grays Inne to y^e vfe of them & their heires (in trust only) for y^e Fellowes & Students there for y^e time being, by vertue whereof y^e Inheritance of this Colledge is firmly fetled in this honorable Society.

(The statement that Edmund, Lord Grey of Wilton, conveyed the manor of Purtpole, otherwise Gray's Inn, unto the Ancients and Benchers, is scarcely accurate; for it was sold by Lord Grey to one Hugh Denys, to whom, with several other persons (some, presumably, members of Gray's Inn), it was conveyed by bargain and sale dated 12 August, 1506, accompanied by a Recovery, a Fine, and by Deeds of Release, from the same Edmund, Lord Grey, and his brothers, Richard Grey, clerk, and John Grey.

In 7 Hen. VIII. (1516) the survivors of the persons to whom the manor was so conveyed obtained the King's licence to alienate to the prior and convent of Shene "the manor of Portepole" and appurtenances, estimated at the annual value of £6 13s. 4d.

On the dissolution of the monasteries, the possessions of Shene passed to the Crown, and Dugdale states that the manor or inn was granted by the King unto the Society in fee farm, by the yearly payment of the sum above named, which they continued to pay until the year 1733, when they purchased this rent of the persons deriving title from Sir Philip Matthews.)

Touchinge y^e Auncient Armoriall, not only by tradition received but also in Mr. Stowe's Appendix blazoned & authentically descried deducted from those of y^e Lord Gray of Wilton I have here (not discenting from y^t writers oppinion) set forth y^e same That is to say—Barry of six argent and azure a Bordure quarterly or & of the second.

Of moderne daies This honorable Society neglecting y^e one have selected y^e other wth due appropiaçon and no lelse approbaçon to themselves, w^{ch} they entertaine for their proper HEROIKE & COLLEGIAT ARMORIALLS before any other blazoned as is in y^e margent depicted. The hono^{ble} Colledge of Grayes-Inne doth beare for their Coat Azure an Indian Griffon proper Sergreant wth y^e laudable incription invironing the same.

The Griffon is in fashion twofold or byformed or (as it may bee said) double natured. In y^e fore partes participatinge wth y^t of y^e Eagle, & in y^e hinder partes wth those of y^e Lion.

This Ayrie fowle, or earthly beaft as here it appeareth is termed sergreant not volant or rampant as some hold, for y^t hee seemeth wth his Lionish loynes to touch y^e earth and wth his English partes advanceth himselfe, as if his flight were towards y^e heavens. The Griffon this erected signifieth his prepared purpose to some action of might & force adding thereunto by y^e Wings and Talents not only fine force, but Induftry also. This beaft, havinge attayned unto his full strength & growth fomuch disdaineth vafalrey and subjection That hee will never be surprised alive Thereby lively sheweinge forth his magnanimous twofold Kingely spirit as well of y^e Lion as of y^e Eagle.

This signall of hono^r discovereth secretly y^e property of a generous mind & is very significantly assumed to this hono^{ble} Colledge whose members there (if thereto assigned by y^e Sovereigne) will valourfly both for Prince, Peeres & People attempt y^e pformance of noble actions both ingenious, valorous & induftrious. ffor such generous persons in y^e dayes of peace put in practife every commendable action, y^t may further y^e maintenance & continuance thereof, that is y^e indifferent distribucon of y^e Lawes to all And if contrary should bee offered there is noe doubt, but there hono^{ble} inclinacōn to peace & religion would incite them valoroufly to represe the contempⁿ thereof by w^{ch} endevors nothing cann bee better pleasing to a Prince & State, or bee accounted more hono^{ble} & commendable.

To this renowned Colledge are appropriat members two Halls or Inns of Chancery—
